Spirit Intends us to be Powerful

via Ann McGill - 2/ 11 /2003

Carla Berg wrote an empowering reply to our last Message from the Universe – “The Time is Now! – Results.” (’03-01-29) I share her astute observations and gentle course correction all might benefit.

I agree that we can together co-create wonderful things. I understand our connectedness. And I agree that we instantly tap into the collective consciousness.. But I disagree that it was "us" or that "our help" was needed in accomplishing your desired goal.

All the work you have done to clear away old issues, fears and distorted beliefs about yourself and life has finally given you access to all of your creative power. In other words,

You ...divine human, have the power to instantly manifest everything you want. You don't need us at all. If it makes you feel better, keep taking this interim step. Keep giving the credit away. But as you do so, you deny your own power, the power you have worked so hard to reclaim. The power Spirit always intended you to have. We're in a new world and the rules are different. I know this goes against a lifetime of programmed thinking that you're not worthy of this great power. But you are worthy. Spirit trusts you with this power. Now trust yourself.

And thank you for reminding me of this lesson. Love, Carla

And thank you Carla for the clarity of your reminder lesson.

n/ Joy ... b/ Peace ... w/ Love ...
